Nebraska Wesleyan University

HIST 284 Meiji - the Making of Modern Japan

Catalog

2013-2014

Course Description

In this seminar we will read widely in the political, social, and cultural history of the Meiji period (1868-1912) to develop an understanding of the period's powerful shaping influence on the course Japan took in the twentieth century. In addition to secondary scholarship by leading authorities on the Meiji period, we will read works of literature that illuminate the complexities and tensions within Meiji society.

Course Hours

4 hours

Departments

1. History