Nebraska Wesleyan University

COMM 250 Communication and Gender

Catalog

2013-2014

Course Description

This course offers an exploration of theories of the creation and perpetuation of gender and gender roles through communication. In turn, students will consider the question of the impact of gender on communication. Students will examine gender in a variety of contexts including families, friendships, romantic relationships, and media.

Course Hours

4 hours

Departments

1. Communication Studies