BUSAD 5030 Self-Awareness, Adaptability, and Authenticity

Catalog

2016-2017

Course Description

This course focuses on the skills and characteristics top executives look for in MBA graduates that aren't related to specific discipline, such as adaptability, self-awareness and strategic thinking. Learners will perform self-assessments, set goals, build community and develop leadership skills. In addition, students will begin the mentoring program in this course. This course should be completed in the first two terms of a student's program.
