Nebraska Wesleyan University

POLSC 2400 Legislative Politics

Catalog

2016-2017

Course Description

This course examines the functioning of legislatures in the United States, chiefly but not exclusively the U.S. Congress. Legislatures' place in the political system, the forces acting on them, and their impacts on other actors in politics will be examined, as well as the behavior of legislators and the internal structures of legislatures will be considered.
Prerequisite(s): POLSC 1000FYW United States Government and Politics or permission or the instructor or department chair.

Course Hours

3 hours

Departments

1. Political Science