Nebraska Wesleyan University

PHIL 3210 Philosophy of Religion

Catalog

2017-2018

Course Description

This is a survey of issues in the philosophy of religion. The main focus will be on issues found in western religious traditions, especially Christianity, with brief excursions into non-western traditions. These issues may include: arguments for the existence of God, the problem of evil, understanding the divine attributes, miracles, mysticism, religious pluralism, and life after death.

Archway Curriculum: Integrative Core: Science and Religion Thread
Archway Curriculum: Essential Connections: Writing Instructive

Course Hours

3 hours

Departments

1. Philosophy and Religion