

SOC 230 Social Change and Social Movements

3 hours

Majors, Minors & Degrees:

Minors

Peace and Justice Studies

Departments/Programs:

Sociology and Anthropology

This course examines the processes of social change from a sociological perspective. In particular, it looks at the origins, dynamics, and consequences of social movements such as the labor movement, civil rights, feminism, gay rights, and the environmental movement. Social movements emphasized vary with instructor.

Prerequisite(s): SOC-003 or SOC-004.

(Normally offered alternate years.)