

ART 221 Digital Media 4

3 hours

Departments/Programs:

Art

A studio art course designed to give students a working comprehension of digital media as it pertains to animation in the digital space. Students explore how to use the multimedia authoring tool of Flash to create animations with sound that can be delivered to the web or viewed on the screen. The concept of the image and interaction with the image are central goals of this class.

Prerequisite(s): ART-220.
