ART 221 Digital Media 4

Catalog

2013-2014

Course Description

A studio art course designed to give students a working comprehension of digital media as it pertains to animation in the digital space. Students explore how to use the multimedia authoring tool of Flash to create animations with sound that can be delivered to the web or viewed on the screen. The concept of the image and interaction with the image are central goals of this class.
