ECON 297 Economics Internship

Catalog

2013-2014

Course Description

Each student must work with the department intern coordinator to obtain an economics-related internship. This course gives opportunity for practical application of theoretical principles learned in the classroom. Under special circumstances, a second internship may be taken for credit with the approval of the business department chair and the internship coordinator.

Prerequisite(s): Junior standing or permission of the internship coordinator.

(Normally offered each semester.)
