

FORSC 510 Research Methods and Statistics for Forensic Science

3 hours

Departments/Programs:

Forensic Science

This course includes differences between experimental, quasi-experimental, and concomitant measurement studies. Statistics covered include analysis of variance and multiple linear regression. Emphasis is on hypothesis testing, data analysis, and the communication of findings.