Nebraska Wesleyan University

PSYCH 3200 Psychological Testing

Catalog

2014-2015

Course Description

An introduction to the theory, construction, administration, and interpretation of standardized psychological tests. Tests considered include IQ assessments, general interest surveys, personality inventories, and projective techniques. General methodological and statistical issues in testing and measurement are also covered.
Prerequisite(s): PSYCH 1010 Introduction to Psychological Science.
Recommended: PSYCH 2100 Psychological Statistics.

Course Hours

4 hours

Departments

1. Psychology