

Course:

PSYCH 3100 Introduction to Counseling Skills

4 hours

Departments/Programs:

Psychology

A practical introduction to the skills and techniques of counseling in a variety of human service settings. Emphasis is on skill development and application. Includes an overview of different counseling methods and exposure to individuals using these methods in the helping professions.

Prerequisite(s): PSYCH 1010 Introduction to Psychological Science or permission of the instructor.
(Normally offered each spring semester.)