

Course:

PSYCH 2650 Psychology of Gender

4 hours

Majors, Minors & Degrees:

Majors

Gender Studies (B.A., B.S.)

Departments/Programs:

Psychology

Theories and research exploring how gender is constructed in American culture are introduced in this course. Topics include the construction and propagation of gender roles, differences between men and women in various domains, gender identity, sexuality, romantic relationships, and roles within work and family.

Prerequisite(s): Sophomore standing.

(Normally offered each spring semester.)