Nebraska Wesleyan University

PSYCH 2650 Psychology of Gender

Catalog

2017-2018

Course Description

Theories and research exploring how gender is constructed in American culture are introduced in this course. Topics include the construction and propagation of gender roles, differences between men and women in various domains, gender identity, sexuality, romantic relationships, and roles within work and family.
Cross listed with GEND 2650.
Prerequisite(s): Sophomore standing.
(Normally offered each spring semester.)

Archway Curriculum: Integrative Core: Gender and Sexuality Thread
Archway Curriculum: Essential Connections: Diversity Instructive: U.S.

Course Hours

4 hours

Departments

1. Psychology