

Course:

PHYS 5900 Selected Topics: Physics

3 hours

Departments/Programs:

Physics, Astronomy, and Computer Science

This graduate-level course is designed to give students the opportunity for in-depth study of a physics-based concept. Topics will consist of a highly specialized area of study or revolve around issues or recent trends and innovations related to the field of physics.