

Nebraska Wesleyan University

Catalog 2018-2019

SOC 1110 Introduction to Sociology

4 hours

Majors, Minors & Degrees:

Majors

Business-Sociology (B.S.)

Criminal Justice in Society (B.S.)

History-Social Science Education (B.A., B.S.)

Nursing Traditional (B.S.N.)

Social Work (B.A.)

Social Work (B.S.)

Sociology-Anthropology (B.A., B.S.)

Minors

American Minority Studies

Criminal Justice

Family Studies

Legal Studies

Sociology-Anthropology

Departments/Programs:

Sociology and Anthropology

This course is an introduction to using the sociological perspective as a method of social inquiry. Students explore such basic concepts as culture, socialization, social structure, social interaction, and social change. They study and apply the theories and research methodologies used to investigate human social interaction. These concepts are applied to social topics such as race, class, gender, family, crime, population, environment, and others.

(Normally offered each semester.)