Voice and Movement II is a course that focuses on the mastery and reinforcement of vocal and physical techniques learned in THTRE-2420: Voice and Movement I. Students will explore more advanced texts and movement styles, which may include material from classical texts, Greek drama, Commedica Del Arts or masque work. In addition, students will learn advanced vocal and physical technique and strategies for sustained vocal health, freedom of breath, and freedom of movement in the body. Each student will prepare and present a series of oral and written voice and movement technique projects culminating in an oral and written examination. Prerequisite: THTRE-2420
