

ENG 3230 American Transcendentalism

2 hours

Majors, Minors & Degrees:

Majors

English (B.A.)

Departments/Programs:

English

This course will study the 19th century Boston- based movement known as American Transcendentalism, a movement that was equal parts literary, philosophical, religious, and reformist. Writers studied will usually include Emerson, Fuller, Hawthorne, Thoreau, Whitman, Melville, and Dickinson.

Prerequisite(s): First Year Writing and junior standing or permission of the instructor.

(Normally offered alternate fall semesters.)