Nebraska Wesleyan University

HIST 2410 Racial Justice in Twentieth Century America

Catalog

2021-2022

Course Description

A study of movements for racial justice in the United States since 1900, this course focuses on the ideas, strategies, tactics and participants in movements which sought to counter racial discrimination, violence and oppression directed at African Americans, Latino/a Americans, American Indian nations, Asian Americans and various immigrant populations sometimes defined as "racial" groups. Attention also will be given to the interaction of the movements with other movements,such as LGBTQ+ or Feminist movements. No P/F.

Archway Curriculum: Essential Connections: Diversity Instructive: U.S.
Archway Curriculum: Justice Thread
Archway Curriculum: Essential Connections: Discourse Instructive

Course Hours

4 hours

Departments

1. History