Nebraska Wesleyan University

PHIL 2800 Mythologies Mythologies

Catalog

2023-2024

Course Description

In this course we study and assess a variety of mythologies from around the world, paying attention to the cultural circumstances from which these myths emerge, and the different types of belief systems the myths answer to and inspire. The instructor of the course will determine which mythologies are studied. These may include, but are not limited to: Greek, African, Celtic, Egyptian, Buddhist, and Hindu mythologies. Students may repeat the course with departmental permission when the study of different mythologies is offered.

Archway Curriculum: Essential Connections: Discourse Instructive
Archway Curriculum: Integrative Core: Science and Religion Thread

Course Hours

4 hours

Departments

1. Philosophy and Religion