The specific degree a student pursues is determined by their major. Students pursuing more than one major should refer to the policy on Additional Majors.

Baccalaureate Degree Requirements

Ultimate responsibility for completion of degree requirements lies with the student. Nebraska Wesleyan University provides faculty advising and online academic analyses to assist students in monitoring degree progress.

Candidates for all baccalaureate degrees must complete the following requirements:

Catalog Determination of Degree Requirements for Graduation

Students must meet graduation requirements stipulated in the catalog of their original matriculation (enrollment) as a degree-seeking student at Nebraska Wesleyan. A student may choose a subsequent catalog under which to complete graduation requirements provided they enrolled as an undergraduate degree-seeking student in that academic year and the catalog has not expired.

All degree requirements (Archway Curriculum, major, and minor requirements) must be completed from the same catalog.

If a course listed under a studentâ??s degree requirements is no longer offered, it will be replaced with a course recommended by the department or program. Any modifications to degree requirements must be submitted by the appropriate major or minor advisor on a Modification of Program Requirements form. These requests must include a rationale from the advisor detailing the need for the program modification and then be approved by the Dean of Undergraduate Programs and the Assistant Provost for Integrative and Experiential Learning (if major capstone or other Archway Curriculum requirement modification).

Undergraduate Catalog Time Limit

Beginning in fall 2019, undergraduate catalogs have a six-year time limit (the 2025-2026 catalog will expire the last day of the summer term 2031). Students have six years from their semester of original matriculation to complete a degree program in effect when they initially registered. A student may choose a subsequent catalog under which to complete graduation requirements provided they were enrolled as an undergraduate degree-seeking student in that academic year and the catalog has not expired.

Reactivation

Returning NWU degree-seeking students who have not been enrolled for one or more semesters (Fall/Spring) must apply for reactivation with the Registrar's Office. Reactivated students will follow the requirements stated in the undergraduate catalog at the time of reactivation and enrollment. A student may choose to follow a catalog for any academic year in which they were a degree-seeking student at NWU which has not expired. Beginning in 2019, undergraduate catalogs have a six-year time limit (the 2025-2026 catalog will expire the last day of the summer term 2031).

Residency Requirement

All baccalaureate degree students must take 32 credit hours of coursework in residence at Nebraska Wesleyan University. Any request for exceptions must be directed to the Executive Committee for approval.

Majors

A major consists of at least 30 credit hours under the direction of a department or an interdisciplinary program. Major requirements in effect at the time a student declares a major govern their program unless they choose requirements stipulated in a later catalog.

A major must include at least 12 upper-level credit hours (courses numbered 3000-4990), as well as 12 credit hours earned in regular Nebraska Wesleyan classes. (Credit earned by examination does not count as earned in regular NWU classes.)

Declaring a Major

Major requirements differ across and within departments. When selecting a major, students should meet with department chairs for information and counsel beyond what is included in each departmentâ??s section in this catalog.

A traditional undergraduate student declares a major by filing the Major/Minor Declaration form in the Registrarâ??s Office. Students may declare a major any time after their first semester and are expected to do so during their sophomore year. After a traditional undergraduate student has declared a major, they are assigned an advisor in the major department. The student then works closely with the advisor to plan each semesterâ??s course work. Students are required to meet with their advisor each semester to get advisor permission for registration.

Once a student declares a major, they must meet requirements specified in the catalog in effect at the time the major is declared, unless they choose requirements stipulated in a later catalog.

Additional Majors

Students may earn more than one major, depending on the desired majors. Students choose their primary major and earn the degree designated with that major.

When the studentâ??s additional major(s) is designated for the same degree as her/his primary major, the student earns one degree with two (or more) majors. Requirements for each major must be met, including supporting programs. Each major must contain no fewer than 25 credit hours required for the major that are not common to the studentâ??s other major(s). When a major is designated for more than one degree option and the major requirements differ based on the degree, the student must complete the requirements for the degree being earned.

When the studentâ??s additional major(s) is not designated for the same degree as her/his primary major but is available as an additional major for that degree, the student may earn one degree with two (or more) majors. Requirements for each major must be met, including supporting programs. Each major must contain no fewer than 25 credit hours required for the major that are not common to both majors.

When the studentâ??s additional major(s) is not designated for the same degree as her/is primary major and is not available as an additional major that degree, the student must complete two degrees in order to have the additional major(s). Earning two degrees requires an additional 25 credit hours beyond the 126 credit hour minimum (total of 151 credit hours). The credit counted toward a major and supporting program for one degree cannot be counted toward the major and supporting program for the second degree.

Supporting Programs

Many majors require students to strengthen the program of concentrated study. To fulfill these requirements, students work with their advisors to develop a supporting program that involves one or more additional disciplines. A supporting program consists of courses selected from other fields acceptable to, or designated by, the major advisor.

Supporting program requirements for students who are completing a minor or a second major may be reduced or waived upon the recommendation of the appropriate department chair.

Minors

A minor consists of a minimum of 12 credit hours and is defined by the department or interdisciplinary program offering it. Students may earn more than one minor at Nebraska Wesleyan.

Each minor must contain at least 12 hours of course work not counted toward any other major or minor the student is earning. A minor must include at least 4 credit hours earned in regular Nebraska Wesleyan classes.

The Executive Committee is authorized to accept a minor not offered at Nebraska Wesleyan. In such instances, the Nebraska Wesleyan department most closely related to that discipline recommends the minor and approves the courses, content, and number of hours required.

Once a student declares a minor, they must meet the requirements specified in the catalog in effect at the time the minor is declared unless they choose requirements stipulated in a later catalog.

Academic Advising

Nebraska Wesleyan offers academic advising to all degree-seeking students from their first registration until graduation. Advisors assist students with academic and co-curricular planning and connect students to support resources on campus. To ensure progress toward graduation, students must consult with their advisor before they can register for classes each semester.

New first-year students are initially advised by their Archway Seminar instructor during the New Student Registration process and through the first semester. Until a student declares a major, the students' Archway Seminar instructor serves as their academic advisor and is available for guidance in the exploration of life, career, and educational goals. Once a major is officially declared, the student is assigned a major advisor in the department.

New transfer students are typically advised by faculty from the department of their intended major. Transfer students complete the Integrative Seminar to orient them to campus with the understanding that these students are already in a working relationship with their academic advisor for their intended or declared major. Transfer students remain with this advisor unless their major change.

Questions and concerns regarding academic advising should be directed to the Director of Academic Advising.

Candidacy for Graduation

In order to be a candidate for graduation, a student must file thier graduation application in the Registrarâ??s Office. Graduation applications are due on November 15 of the previous year for students graduating in May and May 15 of the year students intend to graduate in December.

The faculty recommends graduation candidates to the Nebraska Wesleyan Board of Governors for approval.

Nebraska Wesleyan confers degrees twice per year, in December and May; however, graduation ceremonies are held only once a year, in May. All candidates are encouraged to participate in the commencement ceremony; however, students have the option of graduating in absentia.

No student is allowed to participate as a graduation candidate in more than one commencement ceremony unless returning for a second degree. If a student was published in the commencement ceremony program, but did not attend the commencement, they are not allowed to participate in a later ceremony (unless returning for a second degree). Students will receive their diploma when all graduation requirements are met, but the student will not be allowed to be published in or walk in more than one commencement ceremony.

Graduation

Each student is responsible for making certain they have met all degree requirements. Faculty advising and a check system by the Registrarâ??s Office help students monitor their progress toward graduation.

Graduation Application

Students apply for graduation through Self Service online graduation application (both undergraduate and graduate). The graduation application is available for undergraduate students who have completed a minimum of 90 credit hours; graduate students have no minimum credit hour requirements to apply for graduation. A student should apply for the graduation date they plan to have degree requirements finished. The graduation application deadlines are:

- December 1 for May graduation
- June 1 for December graduation (eligible to walk during the following May commencement ceremony)

Students will be required to complete a Petition for a Late Graduation Application if they do not meet the deadline for the semester they are submitting an application for. The form will be routed to their Advisor for approval.

Students should check their progress toward completing degree requirements using Self Service>Student Planning>My Progress. It is the studentâ??s ultimate responsibility to verify and complete all NWU degree requirements set forth in the university course catalog which they matriculated under.

Graduation will be certified when all academic requirements are complete. May graduation requirements must be completed by September 1. December graduation requirements must be completed by February 1.

View the Commencement website for schedule and details of the graduation ceremonies.

Graduation Policy

A commencement ceremony is held once a year, in May. Students are eligible to walk in the ceremony if they completed their degree in the previous December, will complete all degree requirements in the spring semester, or have 9 credit hours or less to complete remaining degree requirements (these remaining degree requirements must be completed in the summer semester following the May ceremony).

To be eligible to walk in the commencement ceremony with outstanding (remaining) degree requirements, a student can have no more than 9 credit hours of degree requirements to be completed during the summer semester following the ceremony.

A student is not allowed to participate in the May ceremony if they have more than 9 credit hours of degree requirements remaining at the time of commencement. Students with more than 9 credit hours of degree requirements remaining at the time of the May ceremony will be considered December graduates, and the student will walk in the following May commencement after the remaining requirements are completed.

Post-Baccalaureate Options

Additional Major or Minor for Nebraska Wesleyan Graduates
A Nebraska Wesleyan graduate may take additional coursework at Nebraska Wesleyan to complete a major or minor not originally earned with, but applicable to, their degree. As with any major, an additional major must consist of at least 12 upper-level credits as well as 12 credit hours earned in regular Nebraska Wesleyan courses, and must include a senior comprehensive. The additional major must contain no fewer than 25 credit hours that are not common to the student's other major(s). An additional minor will consist of at least 4 credit hours from regular Nebraska Wesleyan classes. A minor must contain at least 12 credits not common to the students major(s) or other minor(s). Because an additional degree is not earned, no diploma is issued; the additional major or minor is recorded on the studentâ??s transcript.

Second Baccalaureate Degree for Nebraska Wesleyan Graduates
A Nebraska Wesleyan graduate wishing to earn a second baccalaureate degree must meet all requirements for the second degree and complete 25 credit hours in residence in addition to the 126 required for the first degree. The credit counted toward a major and supporting program for one degree cannot be counted toward the major and supporting program for the second degree. Students will receive a diploma for the second degree and may participate in the Commencement ceremony.

Baccalaureate Degree at Nebraska Wesleyan for Graduates from Another Institution
A person wishing to earn a baccalaureate degree at Nebraska Wesleyan who has already received a baccalaureate degree from another regionally-accredited institution must fulfill the 32 hours in residence requirement. The major shall not be in the same discipline as the major the student has previously completed. All rules regarding majors must be met.

Certification for Teaching
Certification for teaching is available for persons who have already completed a bachelorâ??s degree (at Nebraska Wesleyan or another accredited institution). Unless a second bachelorâ??s degree is desired (in this case, see previous section), graduation requirements at Nebraska Wesleyan do not need to be met; only the education requirements for state certification are required. Contact Nebraska Wesleyanâ??s Department of Education for details.
